America's Great Danger

AN ENGLISH COMMENTARY.

Said an eminent English scientist recently:
"The danger that confronts the great American people to day is not the possible adoption of a wrong financial policy for the nation, or the spread of socialism, or the increase of corruption among public men.
All these are had enough, to be sure, but they are as nothing compared to the terrible national discuss—I had almost said national grime—of overwork. The mad rush for wealth is set at a killing pace, and thousands You are likely to be one of the victims!

Rey. C. A. Caunolli, pastor First Raptist Church, Yellow Springs, O., writes as follows:

"I have used Dr. Miles Restorative Nervine for the post six months. I find it acts like a charm on the whole nervous system. I have not found its equal in giving immediate peliat. FEUD IN THE PARTY

Hatred Exists Between Leaders Over the Army Bill.

COMING PRUSSIAN ELECTIONS.

Result Will Turn Largely on Finaucial Taxation and Educational

[Coperight 1968 by the United Press.] BERLIN, Oct. 1.—Interest in the Press ian election is heightening in propor tion as the great party groups develop their concern in the results. Class legis-lation has always tended towards popu-lar indifference. This, however, has some reflex action caused by the agita-tion accompanying the reichstag elec-tions, and this livens up party spirit. Both factions of the Freissinning party, the national liberal, centrists and con-servatives, alike intend to take part in the fray. The socialist leaders differ as to the policy to be followed. Herr Singer advises socialists to abstain from voting, arguing that as in direct elec-tions, the socialists can do nothing except through political combination, which the party ought to despise. Un-der the influence of Herr Singer a der the influence of Herr Singer a majority of the socialistic committee has advised the party to hold aloof from the elections. An influential minority insists that the party should take part in the elections and doubtless a number of socialists will respond to this advice. The radical unionists, one faction of the Freissinnige party still maintains its conflict with the other factions—the Richterists—though no great question ought to divide them on the Frussian elections. The recent feud in the party over the army bill has left apparently irreconcilable hatreds between the leaders. Herr Richter is again distinguishing himself by the violence of his denunciations of his old political friends. The national liberals appear on the lists with a definite and practical program. This party will demand the extension of the state railways and canals, improved navigation in the rivers, reform in the finances, amended taxation and finally, resistance to the extension of ecclesiastical influence in the national schools. The elections will largely turn on financial taxation and educational questions.

Diagrace and social discepute do not affect Ahlwardt's influence. At a recent congress of north German anti-semites his program found unanimous assistance. Among the proposals submitted and accepted was the absurd one of prohibiting Hebrews to have German servants.
